

PRAISE FROM AFRICA

“ I found the Community Tool Box while searching for information on developing a framework for integration of migrants in our country. Many thanks for the information. I have found it very useful. ”

Verne Kleinsmidt: Pretoria, South Africa Researcher, Department of Home Affairs

“ The Community Tool Box helps in guiding us in the design of appropriate training materials for TOT (Training of Trainers) in the local community. ”

*Lawrence A. George: Monrovia, Liberia
Director, National Civic and Development Foundation*

“ Ever since I found the site, I have been able to see issues that were actually hindering my progress and [I] am now able to focus on the bigger picture and not on challenges. The site is very helpful when it comes to capacity-building, the basics. ”

*Thembile Mohlonyane:
Pretoria (Tshwane), South Africa
Acting secretary of a poverty reduction organization*

“ The site is an incredible source of resource materials. In the next two weeks I will be the lead facilitator in a training course for senior managers in the water and health sector. They will come from five to six different countries. I intend to use relevant sections to supplement what we have used in the past. I will also let them know about the site. Thanks and keep up the good work. ”

*Vincent Njuguna: Nairobi, Kenya
Monitoring and evaluation training consultant*

“ I am using the CTB in my organization and I will love to have a practical knowledge to enable me to work with my government in the health development sector. ”

Calista Ukwuoma: Abuja, Nigeria Karolinska Institute

“ I find this tool kit very useful and would like to use it in my day to day work, which is aimed at enabling deprived entities to realize their potential and contribute towards their development. ”

*Sarah Olalo: Nyanza, Kenya
Monitoring and evaluation training consultant*

“ I just chanced on the Tool Box and love it so much. The details therein are so useful; I intend to use it to upgrade my knowledge and skills in project development and community engagements. ”

*Elvis Addae: Ghana
Community developer focusing on health, education, and capacity-building*

“ My work gives me opportunity to interact with community members, families, local leaders and authorities on how to improve the maternal and general health of the communities I work with. I have found the tool very helpful in my work, especially in the area of community mobilization, advocacy, partnerships and networking, and resource mobilisation. I thank you for such a useful tool, especially for people involved in project work in the developing countries. I wish I could let everybody know about this rich resource. Many thanks, CTB. ”

*John Elianu: Kampala, Uganda
Project Officer of Maternal, Neonatal, and Child Health for African Medical and Research Foundation and Uganda Protestants Medical Bureau*

“ This appears to be a very creative way of imparting information to students. ”

*Rasinth Veeran: KwaZulu Natal, South Africa
Community Work Lecturer, University of Natal, Durban*

“ Stumbling on your website, I would say it has almost been the best thing that has happened to me surfing! It has given me a stepwise explanation on the rudiments of setting up an NGO. ”

*Chidimma Ajayi: Nigeria
Medical practitioner developing an adolescent sexual and reproductive health community-based organization*

“ I was amazed at the quality and quantity of information available. I will most definitely make use of this information in the future. ”

Heila Josste: Mpumalanga, South Africa Provincial Manager for Health Promotion

“ As a guide for my [health-related social marketing] work plan, I find it invaluable. Thanks for the initiative and the focused presentations. ”

*Freda Nkuutu: Kampala, Uganda
Research manager*
